The country has arrived at the point in its career, from which the tendency and worth of the two forms of civilization which it has cherished, must be seen by all men. of control, their haughtiness and their readiness at all times to resort to objurgation and violence, were accidental matters which have been brought out by the continued provocations of the radical men by whom they have been assailed. We have been conscious of the real value of these excuses; and now when all of the Cotton States are really under the control of a mob; when the commonest rights of cititens are disregarded with impunity; when the press is muzzled and free speech denied; when no number of private virtues are permitted to atone for or excuse obnoxious political opinions; when threats of violence and vengeance are on every tongue, and the means for executing them are in every hand; when frenzy which ought to consign those who indulge in it to the mad house, is misnamed patriotism and suffered to control public affairs,—when these things are observed and weighed, the influence of Sinvery upon the intellect and passions of the people by whom it is upheld, may be seen, and the filmy apologies which have excused previous excesses and acts of lawlessness, exposed.

But if all the history that Slavery has heretofore made were wised out as with a cocitively and individually, the rights which belong to him as an American citizen. There is no violence, no indication of impatience, no probability that the exasperation of the people can be caused to such a pitch that the guarantys of personal safety will be snatched away rom any man, no matter how grave his offense. The people have learned self-control. Educated in the belief of every man to own and have himself, the fruit of his iwn labor, the opinions which suit him their unreserved expression, they have that tolerance and that regard for each other's rights, upon which, and only which, an enduring political structure can be built.

If there were no other reasons than these contained in the events of the last sixty days, why the Republican party should stand firm in its position and refuse to countenance, by any dodge whatever, the extension of slavery into territory now toterance and that regard for each others countenance, by any dodge whatever, the extension of slavery into territory now free, these reasons would justify their ac-tion. An institution which produces re-sults upon the body politic, like those now suits upon the body pointe, like those now ripening into anarchy in all the Cotton States, may well challenge the attention and provoke the hostility of all statesmen who see in government only the means for securing the safety, promoting the happi-ness and developing the civic virtues of the

MILWAUKER ttempt of the Government to Supply

[From the Pittsburgh Gasetts, 2th.] The heart of this people was stirred to the utmost indignation, yesterday, upon learning that Secretary Floyd, of the War Department, had ordered most of the cannon at the U. S. Arsenal, here, to the extent of 100 or more, to be shipped to New Orleans and Galveston. The people could hardly believes a astomating story, at first; but every inquiry only construed the report. There is no doubt of its routh. There is the utmost activity at the Arcenal; and the steamboat Silver Wave, we burn, has been chartered to convey the guns routh lence to their Southern destination.

We hear, also, that large quantities of the mail arms at the Arcenal have also been shiped South, lately, by railroad.

ped South, lately, by railroad.

These facts to show conclusively the treasonable purpose of this administration. Every Northern Arsenal has been stripped of arms and ordnance, and every Southern Arsenal craumed full, and left in such a condition as to give the Saccessionist a chance to capture them, and so provide themselves thoroughly with the accountrement of war, at the expense of the Government. The one hundred and odd cannon to be sent from here to Ship Island and Galveston are, without deabt, to be tilesed where they can be experted without a blow. While the traitors of the South are thus

While the traitors of the South are thus being furnished by a government in league with the must be the without arms, except such as individual citizens may possess. Should war break out, the North will thus be, for the time, defenceless; and it is undoubtedly the purpose of the Government to put the two sections in just that position—the South abunduntly supplied, the North unarmed.

Against this aircrity, what shall we oppose? In the templer of the people, yesterday, these

Will probably assemble to-morrow.

[From the Philadelphia Press, itst.]
The Southern politicians, having seized possession of the Southern Legislatures, have, for nore than a year past, been preparing for the resent-state of things, and in this they have een assisted by the present Administration. however, and the present and the present arms have been furthed to the different United States are main the leading Southern either and the present. the excitement prevailing called out a full poll, being only 3,720, it is evident that the Administration looked forward to this state of things

The Voice of Beasen.

Hon. John A. Gilmer, of North Carolina, in a recent letter to Dr. Conyers, of Covington non-some an entire of everta Caroins, in a recent letter to Dr. Conyers, of Covington Georgia, says:

Whenever it is reasonably settled, that our nonor can no longer be maintained and our rights no longer be as on the Union, I have too much conductor in the spirit and courage of our Southers people, to doubt their united pledges and action to maintain and preserve them out of it. When we have exhausted all reasonable and fair means for our constitutional rights in the Union, and have falled. Ido not insist that we should be detarred from a separation from the free States, because thereby we lose all the sympathies we now have with the conservative millions in the free States, and make them all to us alien Garrisonian. Aboiltion esembles, freed from all the rearraints growing out of community of interest, laws and Constitution. But this consideration, with the millions of the Northwest, settled on the tributaries of the Mississippi, growing out of the northwest, settled on the tributaries of the Mississippi, growing out of the northwest of t pie; and she must raise the measy for these ends.

The experiment for one short month would, I am fearful, so oppress our people as to give the cause a serious drawback, and day by day incline the public to submit to present evils. Beside these and many more lifts, that I cannot enumerate in one short letter, we shall inaugurate a condition of successive changes of government that will find a parallel in the revolution of Mcxico. No one, I suppose, will expect Alabama to remain a separate nation, and hence the public mind will be kept in all the feverish excitement of—what is to come! As one State and another may come out and propose to join us, government will have to be formed and reformed; for there will be no existing confederation into which, like new States of the present Union, they are to be admitted. Each coming State may have some peculiar interests of its own to provide for, and some peculiar dangers to be guarded against, and so we shall be constantly revolving upon the giddy wheel of revolution, until the country may submit to anarchy and despotism. It is easy to act on the single idea, "let the Union shide," for it is easy enough to pull down; but if Alabama nudertakes to do it without attempting

— Reverdy Johnson followed the publication of the President's Fast Day prolamation with some remarks in the Supreme Court at Washlagton which may be regarded as more vigorous than complimentary to Old Pub. Func. ous than complimentary to Old Pub. Func.
The distinguished advocate prayed "that Heaven might silence the whinings of inbecility, new discouraging and silencing the honest public heart." Mr. Johnson was talked of as Mr. Buchanan's Attorney General, and a

J. W. Gray, of the Cleveland Picia Bealer, for a libel published in staff paper. — Capt. Gray, son of Sir George Gray, and equerry to the Prince of Wales during his re-sent visit to this country, was married to Miss Harriet Jane Pearson, at Cheltenham, on the 20th inst. In record to the waddien the 20th inst. In regard to the wedding, the Cheltenbam Examiner has the following:

Cheltenham Examiner has the following:

"Among the parsons present was a young man of aristocratic bearing and pleasing majners, who seemed to be a stranger to every one but the gallant bridgeroom. He did not sign the record as the rest did, and soon after the ceramony he is said to have disappeared. The gossips who were uninvited spectators at St. Luke's have set him down as no less a personage than the Prince of Water, with whom the bridgeroom is und rstood to be in high favor; and we are not in a position either to say they are wrong or to confirm them in their opinion."

The ex-King of Navlas is hy no reconst.

- The ex-King of Naples is by no means a pauper, notwithstanding the loss of his domin one. His treasure has been conveyed to Paris leeping in peace, some of them since the d of Massanicilo. They are arriving by the rain-way, consigned to Serre, to be changed into paltry gold Napoleons and trumpery five-franc pieces—solid, thick ducats of such perfect workmanship that they might serve as speciens of the numismatic art in many museums. The rate of silver is so high

The marriage of Nicholas I, the young Prince of Montenegro, with Millena Petrovka, daughter of the Senator Vukosch, was celebrated on the Sthat Cottigne. At the wedding feast toasts were drank to the Empe or of Ru Emperor of the French, as "the liberator of Mr. Green said his object was to organize a government for Arizona, and he hoped these political matters would be postpound. He are to think the amendment of the Senator from Missiassippi practically amounted to anything. Under the present circumstances would wote for it. He quoted the law allowing slaves to be sold for a government claim as recognizing the right of property, out if this idea was intended to be forced on us of non-recognition of property, we had better gohome, adjourn Congress and dissolve the government. He compared the Senator from Wisconsin's idea of equality to the fable of the stork and fox. He denied the right of mullification, but claimed the right of secession, and argued against the amendment of the Senator from Milnos (Trambull.)

Mr. Doplittle said the Senator from Miss. Synator Douglas denies that he refused to put himself right on the record of the resolutions of Senators Davis and Toombs, saying that he did put on the journals statement that he declined voting on abstract propositions which were not reduced to the form of amendments to the Constitution, when he had just offered an amendment in due form, covering all the points in the resolution.

THE STATE OF ALL QUARRIES. C. W. BROWN'S PATENT PORTABLE Flouring and Grist Mills, Steam Dye Works. Jersey, & Jowa , Md. and Free Ind. do YEW YORK STEAM DYE DUTCH "ANKER" BOLTING CLOTUS, MASTER'S SALE_S WM. YERBURY, Anguest against the amounteent of the Senator from Minois (Trambull.)

Mr. Doolitile said the Senator from Miss. assumed that the Constitution repealed the laws of Mexico in this Territory, and took slavery there. This was contracy to the decision of the Supreme Court. He claimed that the doctrine of Mr. Calboun that the Constitution recognized slave property found few supporters at the time of its announcement.

Mr. Mason said Mr. Calboun was dead, but he did not understand him to say even that the Constitution established slavery, but claimed that slaves were property, and therefore the Constitution must be protected.

Further discussion ensued between Messrs. Green and Doolitie, when the Senate adjourned till Monday.
